Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: page 8, lines 13-18, page 9, lines 4-9, page 10, lines 15-18, page 11, lines 19-23, page 12, lines 21-31, page 14, lines 3-10, page 15, lines 10-15, page 16, lines 20-34, page 18, lines 1-17, page 19, lines 22 through page 20, line 5, page 21, lines 16-30 refer to elements (1-21), however, these elements are not seen in the Figures; on page 8, line 23 refers to element "R", however, Figure 2.6 only contains elements R<sub>1</sub> and R<sub>2</sub>. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- 1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
  - The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.
- 2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. In claim 1, the structure for the cubic logic toy is not clearly set forth. For example, on line 11 of claim 1, the language "the required planar surface" and the "the required concentric spherical surfaces" are not clearly defined. It is unclear what makes the surfaces "required". On line 13, the language "semi-axis" is unclear in describing an axis for the toy. On line 16, the language "the first and innermost conical surface" is unclear in positively referring to a particular conical surface of the toy. On line 19, the language "the following conical surfaces" is unclear in positively referring to a particular conical surface of the toy. On lines 2-22, the language describing the resultant solid and the number of "N visible to the user layers per direction, plus one additional layer" is unclear. It is not clear how one of ordinary skill in the art derives these particular layers. The language describing the three parts of the pieces is not clearly set forth. The shapes for the intermediate second part are not clear. Particularly the shapes (page 2 of claim 1, lines 1-7) for the second part are unclear.

- 3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

  The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 4. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims are replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. In claim 1, the language describing the first part of the pieces is indefinite. the language "is spherically cut when it is not visible to the user" appears to indicate that the first part is to be cut when the user cannot see the piece. The description of the second part is also indefinite. The claim uses alternative language which makes the claim unclear in positively defining a particular structure for the second part. Further, the language "or, more precisely" appears to be simply reciting the same structure in alternative terms. The description of the third part is also unclear. The conditional phrases such as "only when it comes", "when the stability of the construction requires it" and "increased as necessary" make the claim unclear as to when these structures or even if these structures are required. The language "recesses-protrusions" is unclear in describing the shaping created by the smaller separate pieces. The language "whether linear or curved" is unclear in describing the edges of each of the separate pieces. Further, it appears that the language "having been appropriately rounded" contradicts a linear separate piece. The language "i.e." is indefinite in positively defining the structure for the sold. The language "optionally surrounded by a suitable spring" is indefinite in positively defining the spring for the toy.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-12 appear to read over the prior art of record.
